

Max's thoughts on trading by the end of the year

Max's Reflections on the Year and Outlook for 2025

The end of the year is always a time for reflection and planning. 2024 has shown us how dynamic and challenging the markets can be. Commodity markets, particularly energy and metals, were central to many trading strategies, with geopolitical developments leaving a noticeable impact.

What can we expect in 2025?

Here are some key trends I foresee:

- Commodities. The demand for commodities like oil and copper is expected to rise as many countries advance their infrastructure projects. This could lead to strong seasonal movements that can be effectively leveraged with the COT strategy.
- Currencies. Central banks worldwide will continue facing challenges in controlling inflation, potentially leading to increased volatility in currency markets.
- Agricultural Markets. Climate changes and extreme weather conditions could amplify seasonal patterns in agricultural markets, creating interesting trading opportunities.
- The key to success in the coming year will be the ability to adapt to new market conditions while staying true to a proven strategy. The COT strategy equips you to identify trends early and manage risks effectively.
